Hello Friend of Clay on Main,

This past year was a difficult year for us all. We all had to find strength and the stamina to keep going amid the challenges presented to us. We learned to social distance, wear masks and do Zoom meetings. Some of us lost dear friends and family. However, here at Clay on Main we've continued to nurture artists in our co-op. We set up a calendar program to facilitate distancing in the studio; we allowed wheels to be signed out for a week. We were able to share local and regional artists through videos and to offer distanced classes for children and adults in our ceramics and fused glass studio. This year, our instructors and volunteers continued to take the studio on the road to community in Berks County. We created bags of activities for senior members of our community—twenty activity bags each containing ten activities that could be completed at home were distributed through the Encore centers. Clay on Main also created 60 totes filled with activities for young children. These totes were distributed by the PA Migrant worker program to families in the Reading area.

Clay on Main is also hosting our Holiday Boutique featuring local artists. Shopping is done safely, by appointment or planning a small private party of five people. This benefits Clay on Main and also local artists. It also gives our community a safe way to support local art and shop for the holidays.

Your contributions support outreach activities and educational arts workshops for adult and youth students, free and low cost programs for families, a local music scene, and innovative exhibitions.

Clay on Main inspires creativity, learning, and wonder through experiences in clay, music, and arts for everyone. None of this could have happened without the help and commitment of friends such as you! Your donations last year helped us make improvements in our Community Room, including a small arts and craft library. Contributions from supporters like you helped start a scholarship/internship fund this year. Won't you please help support Clay on Main and our commitment to make art more accessible?

Sincerely,
